REVISION EYEWEAR ESTABLISHES GERMAN SALES OFFICE

Essex Junction, VT, USA (March 13, 2009) – Revision Eyewear is pleased to announce that the Company has established a German Sales Office.

Revision, a major, worldwide provider of military protective eyewear, has achieved this leadership position by understanding customer requirements and offering spectacles, goggles and visor solutions that are specifically purpose-built for the military and tactical missions that require high-impact protection and flawless optics.

Alex Hooper, V.P. International Sales stated, “To best serve the German market Revision believes it is important to have direct contact with its customers in order to fully understand their individual needs and ensure that the best eyewear solutions can be offered. The new sales office will be fully responsible for sales in Germany and will provide the primary point of contact for enquiries and information provision.”

Mr. Frank Cremanns has been appointed as the National Sales Manager for Germany. A former member of the German Airborne and a current Active Reservist with the NATO Response Force, Cremmans brings a wealth of experience, understanding and insight into the German military market. He can be reached at +49 (0) 2163.571.3881 or on his mobile telephone at +49 (0) 172.677.0441 for further information on Revision eye protection solutions.

While Revision will continue to maintain distribution channels in Germany, the addition of the in-country sales office will now offer a direct purchasing route and significant procurement advantages for Government requirements.
